

The dining room window is loose from the guide, the technician has disassembled the window, has glued the guide to the window and lowered the closures. then he has mounted the window again.

